(b) and (c) The previous restrictions prescribed a depth limitation of 40 fathoms and beyond for operation of chartered vessels. Due to the difficulties experienced by the Enforcement Authorities in implementing the 40 fathoms limit for operation of chartered vessels, the Maritime Zones of India (Regulation of Fishing by Foreign Vessels) Rules, 1982 were amended in April, 1985, whereby a distance limitation of 24 nautical miles was introduced on the west coast and between Nizampatnam and Paradeep on the east coast; South of Nizampatnam, the distance limitation is 12 nautical miles. The 24 nautical miles line runs almost parallel to the 40 fathom zone, and the depth is more than 40 fathoms beyond 12 nautical miles south of Nibamapat-nam on the east coast. In addition. some pockets having resource potential on the west, south west and the east coasts have bee'n excluded from the purview of operation of the chartered vessels to protect the interest of the Indian Fishing Industry.
